Thank you!

all Thank you nurses, doctors, and healthcare workers for sacrificing your time and safety to keep us safe. The enormous effort you have put in has made great strides in helping our community during these troubling times. You are greatly appreciated!

In tough times like these
the 'best' are asked to go above and beyond. You're way up there.

Thank you for each and every day and all you do.

Mark Hesser MD

Dear Kootenai Staff, & Thankyou! Thankyou so much for all the work and hours you put
in to save and help members of our community. We appreciate you and everything
you have done, and continue to do! Thankyou Again!

THANKS!

a LOT!

Thank
you!

SERIOUSLY,
THANK YOU!

These are tough times
for North Idaho... the sacrifice and hard
work that you are doing
is such a critical part
of getting through this pandemic! Thank you for your dedication, you
are a true hero and I appreciate you
greatly!!

THANK YOU!

Kootenai Health — Nurses, aides, and
everyone in between:

I write this to you sitting
in my office at Regency Wenatchee in Wenatchee, WA; a subacute
rehab facility; and a place
that fourteen individuals
call "home" 7 days a week, 365 days a year. I am
just starting my "career"
in social work.

I am not performing any
life saving measures.

I am just a social worker.

I do not consider myself a hero at all. Not compared to the aides, nurses, and doctors.

I see them though. I see all the hardwork and struggles every day.

I also see the miracles that are worked, and the love that is spread to each and every patient.

Although it is difficult at times, and your passion and joy for helping others might be fading, don't forget why you started in the first place. Your big heart, your love for taking care of others, your passion for helping those in need; I hope that the good memories outweigh the struggles and frustration over the last 2 years.

I hope you see the impact that you have had on your community.

I hope you see the impact that you have had on your fellow colleagues, because you might just be the reason you show up to work. They see your hard work, and passion even when you feel like you're not doing your best or you feel like giving up.

While this world fights over a shot, I know that you are fighting ~~over~~^{as} to keep your desire to serve.

I pray that God will renew your passion, joy, and contentment in your calling.

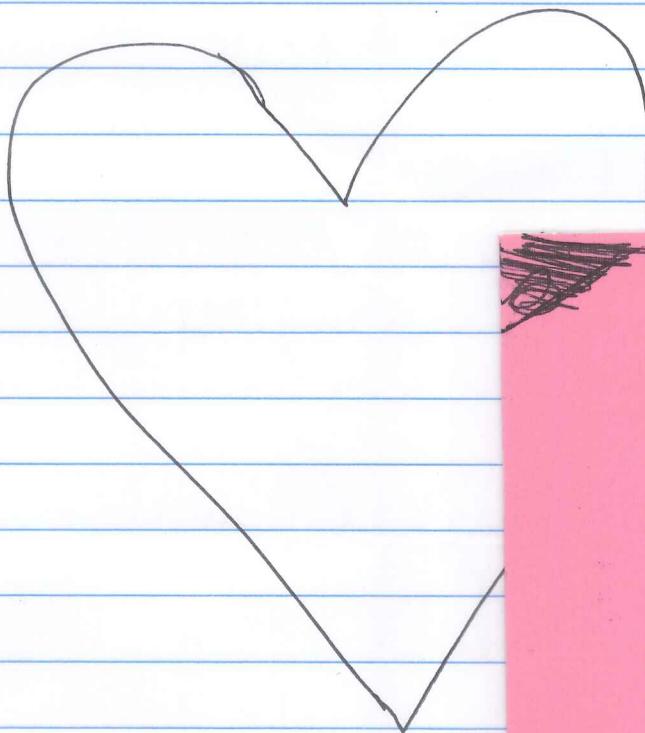

Stay safe, and healthy.

2 Corinthians 4:17-18:
"And this too shall pass."

Respectfully ~

Dear Health Care Workers and
All Hospital Staff,

These words don't seem to be enough to thank each of you for everything you are doing to help others during these uncertain times.

There are angels that God sends to bless us -
"you".

Thank you, Thank you,
thank you.

Dear You,

Here is a note to say, with sincerity of admiration,
Thank You for All that You Do!

These are trying times we are living in right now. And While it may feel as though there is no end in sight please be comforted to know, tough times never last but tough people do. Truly, thank you

Good job!

Thank you for your presence
for all who need you, in spite of all the challenges
you are facing.

I wish you continued strength,
courage and peace, and the hope that you will not doubt yourself and your decision to stick by your profession even though it may feel thankless at times.

You ARE appreciated.

Thank you seems to be such an incomplete expression when compared with what you are giving, how you are helping our community in spite of the intransigence of those who remain unvaccinated. Your ability to care for all is a blessing and a testament to the good that humanity can possess. Bless you
